Training – Operations Management Training/Certification

The PRAC Food Bank has one Manager, and it is the policy of the PRAC Food Bank that the organizations' manager holds a valid Food Safe Certificate, successfully completed from a government accredited training course.

As per the policy on Food Safe Certification, if the Manager is not on site, at a minimum, one of the staff or volunteers must hold a valid Food Safe Certificate, successfully obtained from an accredited government training course, or from Food Banks Canada Food Safety course.

Dated records of all certificates obtained will be stored electronically and in hard copy and are available for perusal on request.
